Democratic Ticket.

FOR PRESIDENT,
GROVER CLEVELAND, OF NEW YORK.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
ALLAN G. THURMAN, OF OHIO.

FOR CONGRESS,
JAMES B. MC CREARY, OF MISSOURI.

The United States Commerce Committee last week made a favorable report on the bill permitting the Richmond, Nicholasville, Irvine and Beattyville Railroad to bridge the Kentucky river.

Returns from the Arkansas elections show that the Democratic candidate for Governor, Hon. J. P. Eagle, received a majority of 16,000 and the other Democratic candidates were elected by big majorities.

"When a man talks about the Mills Bill as free trade, either he talks without wisdom or he talks with intent to deceive, the one or the other. Either he is an ignorant or he is a rascal, the one or the other."—Allen G. Thurman.

The newspapers generally are expressing some anxiety about our General Bradley, who seems to have gone into his hole and drawn it in from him since the August election, when he took something "drap." Let up on the poor fellow, boys, he is only taking a resting spell to learn how to think.—Interior Journal.

DOES THIS SOUND LIKE FREE TRADE.

"The cost of the Government must continue to be met by tariff duties collected at our custom houses upon imported goods and by internal taxes assessed upon spirits and mail freight, tobacco and oleomargarine."—Grover Cleveland. (In letter of acceptance.)

THINK OF IT!

$123,420,000 surplus. This amount is now lying in the Treasury of the United States, with no necessity of this money being taken from the pockets of the American workmen by an exorbitant tariff. Which will you vote for, an increase of this surplus, or a tariff sufficient to defray the expenses of the Government economically administered?

MC CREARY SAFE.

The Republicans of the Eighth Congressional District on last Saturday assembled at Danville to nominate a candidate for Congress. Mr. R. L. Ewell, of London, was nominated and will make the race. There is probably no man in the district either Democratic or Republican who can beat McCreary, and it was only a question as to which one of the Republicans should be the sacrifice.

CLEVELAND'S LETTER OF ACCEPTANCE.

The President's letter of acceptance was given to the papers Sunday night and appeared in all the dailies on Monday. It is, as Cleveland's documents always are, a most powerful declaration of Democratic principles. Our home interests are carefully guarded; the Democratic platform is endorsed; our scale of Federal taxation, as it now is, is exposed, and it is plainly illustrated that the consumer and not the producer pays the tax. He announces the old and tried doctrine that every Government is a pauper and should tax its constituents for only so much as is necessary to defray economical expenses; that unnecessary taxation is unjust taxation; he makes no free trade crusade and closes with a urgent appeal for righteous reform.

RHEA RIDES SWOPE.

Hon. John S. Rhea met Col. A. M. Swope in debate at Lexington last Saturday. Col. Swope led off with an hour's tirade against the tariff. Mr. Rhea rebuked the old dish of Republican arguments, and none who went in search of political food, had their hunger in the least appeased. Mr. Rhea was greeted with deafening applause when he appeared. He gave a clear and explicit explanation of the law of supply and demand, and showed that no artificial interference with this law could succeed. Swope was considerably rattled when he rose for a half hour reply. The Courier-Journal gives this account of his description of his actions: "At one time, standing facing the audience, rearing upon tiptoes and with his brawny arm lifted toward heaven, in the midst of an apostrophe, he suddenly wheeled around and ran across the platform to where chairman Alfred was sitting. He hit Alfred half a dozen sharp cracks on the top of the head with his open hand, exclaiming excitedly: 'Suppose you had a hundred acres of land; suppose you had a hundred acres of land.' Alfred was the most surprised looking man ever seen. The suddenness of Swope's attack as it were, and the wild irrelevance of his supposition, completely upset the handsome chairman, and the house, appreciating the utter ludicrousness of the scene, came down in a roar of laughter."

REDUCTION IN RAW MATERIAL.

Without being conscious of the application to which his utterance would be put, Victor Hugo, in his masterpiece, gave expression to a sentiment which embodies the principle of the Democratic tariff reform. He says a "very slight change had in fact reduced the price of raw material enormously, and this had rendered it possible, first, to raise the wages of the laborer—a benefit to the consumer—secondly, to improve the quality of the goods—an advantage for the consumer—and thirdly, to sell them at a lower price even while making three times the profit—a gain for the manufacturer." How powerful a recommendation of the principle advocated by tariff reform—namely to reduce the price of raw material.

WATER-WORKS.

It looks like the long talked of scheme of having water-works in Richmond last week made a favorable report on the bill permitting the Richmond, Nicholasville, Irvine and Beattyville Railroad to bridge the Kentucky river.

AWFULLY "AWKWARD."

Ben Harrison is being wounded by his own boomerang which is returning with awful force upon him. The agitation of the Chinese question just at this point of the Presidential campaign is exceedingly unfortunate for him. Every recurrence to the fact that Ben is in favor of cheap Chinese labor causes his strength among the workmen to decrease. The recent rejection of the exclusion treaty by the Chinese government will bring the whole Chinese question before Congress, and it will be imperative that some immediate action be taken. And that too, just fifty days before the election. Senator Ingalls says that Harrison's record in the "Chinese matter is very 'awkward,' and so every one considers it, who is in favor of cheap Chinese labor and competition with the workmen of this country. It is certainly awkward for Harrison. But it only serves to increase the popularity of Cleveland and tariff reform.

LOUISVILLE'S CELEBRATION.

Louisville has assumed a very festive form, and is now in the midst of the great International Celebration. Not only the city of Louisville but all Kentucky should be proud of such an enterprise. And most every train which entered Louisville last Wednesday brought crowds of excursionists, and it is estimated that 50,000 visitors saw the parade on that day.

A Courier-Journal editorial remarks that "there are none of the older class of business men who can remember a previous time in the city's history when the general mass of her citizens were so confident of the future of their community or so ready to unite and co-operate in general plans for general advancement. It is impossible to estimate the gratifying change in sentiment that has been accumulating during the past eighteen months, and which has made every citizen an active and energetic 'boomer' of the type which is so familiar in Western cities. We must not lose sight of the fact that this feeling is based upon more than mere local experience, and that it is partly the outgrowth of the change which is coming over the entire South and which has followed the new and successful experiment of diversifying the occupations of the Southern people."

The mineral development in Alabama, Tennessee and Southern Kentucky has attracted an immense amount of wealth and labor into the field. It has built with marvelous rapidity large towns and cities and greatly increased the population of settlements all ready old and which were presumably beyond the reach of the revivifying hand of renewed business."

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND'S RETALIATORY MESSAGE DEFEATED.

Mr. McCreary Presents the Measure in a Powerful Speech.

The opening of the debate on the retaliation bill last Wednesday had a good effect on the somewhat sluggish circulation from which the House of Representatives has suffered for some weeks past. Everybody had become weary of the tariff, and a change that promised to bring out the fire of the big guns on both sides was to be welcomed. Interest in the subject was apparent all over the House when Mr. McCreary, who is in charge of the bill, rose to make his introductory speech. He yielded for a few moments to Mr. Belmont, Chairman of the Committee on Foreign Affairs, who explained why it was that Mr. McCreary had the bill in hand, and then gave way to the gentleman from Kentucky.

Mr. McCreary commenced his speech by complimenting the President on the dignity and courage displayed by him in his fisheries message and said that the measure which therein laid down was worthy the approval and support of the American people. This message and the tariff message of President Cleveland should be recorded together in history. One sought to reduce taxes and lighten the burden of the people; the other looked to the people; the other looked to the maintenance of the dignity and rights of the American citizen. Mr. McCreary's defense of the treaty which the Senate had rejected was thorough

AT THE CAPITAL.

[Correspondence CLIMAX.]
WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 8, 1888.

There have been various rumors about during the past week as to the Senate's probable action on the tariff bill in the hands of the Finance Committee, and the fact that the bill will be introduced and acted upon during the present session was finally determined upon a meeting on Thursday evening at the residence of Senator Edmunds. Twenty-two Republican Senators attended the session, and the discussion was limited to the tariff. After carefully reviewing the several provisions of the bill, it was unanimously decided to introduce the measure in ten days. It was also decided that instead of making the intended reduction of 50 per cent, on lumber, that timber should not be interfered with. The reduction on sugar was set at 50 per cent, and the wool schedule was not to be interfered with. The bill will be introduced as soon as possible, but as there is no probability that a vote upon the bill can be secured an agreement to adjourn will be made, and the tariff bill will remain as part of the unfinished business of the session, to be discussed during the campaign. Should this course be followed it is probable that Congress may yet adjourn during the present month.

THE RAPID SPREAD OF THE YELLOW FEVER.

The rapid spread of the yellow fever in Jacksonville and other points in Florida has awakened the health authorities here to the realization of the possibility of the dread disease being brought to the National Capital by some of the fugitives who are moving northward in order to escape the danger. Inspectors have been appointed, whose duty it is to carefully inspect all trains from the south, and all persons coming from the infected districts are required to produce certificates showing that they have spent the prescribed ten days in quarantine since leaving their homes, and even those who are provided with such certificates are required to be carefully watched by the local officers. It is not thought at all likely that with the precautions being taken there is the least danger, but the action of the authorities is doubtless a wise one.

Some interesting developments are likely to occur in connection with the efforts that are being made by the Speaker to secure a quorum in the House of Representatives. Since the warm weather commenced it has been impossible to keep a sufficient number of the members in town to transact business, and efforts to secure the return of the absentees by telegraph having failed, deputy sergeants-at-arms will be sent through the country to arrest the members wherever found. The officers will be instructed to accept no promises, but to arrest the members, bring them to the city and present them at the bar of the House.

At a Republican meeting held at Morris, Oregon county, N. Y., last night, an explosion exploded, killing John Dickson, Albert Seargent and Frederick Sage.

The latest and practically official returns from the primary election in the Fourth district give Montgomery, for Congress, 2,738; Clements, 2,001; majority for Montgomery, 737. It is not believed that these figures will differ fully from the official count, as made at Elizabethtown to-morrow.

It is said that a man named Lutherford H. Hays will be one of the exhibitors at the Cincinnati Exposition in 1893. He is gradually approaching life, as a dime museum curiosity on the strength of his own claim to notoriety as the only man who ever acted as being elected to the office of succeeding to it through the Vice Presidency.—Courier-Journal.

When the train which bore John J. Connelley from the Jefferson county jail to that of Montgomery, reached the limits of the latter county, papers were served upon Sheriff Clark under a writ of habeas corpus, made returnable before Richard D. Swope, a Justice of the Peace. The hearing under the writ not having been concluded last evening, Connelley was released upon $5,000 bond.—Courier-Journal.

White Chapel, a rural section of London, has a murder mystery which has puzzled the authorities. Three women have been ruthlessly cut to death in a few weeks, the manner in which the bodies mutilated showing that the work was that of one man. This man was known by the wretched women of White Chapel, and it was upon the police and detectives can not find out or prevent the perpetration of his crimes.

ABLE, A MOST CONVINCING ARGUMENT.

showing a wonderful mastery of the subject even to its minutest details. "The time for negotiation," said Mr. McCreary, "is over, and the time for retaliation has come." He showed where the present tariff was a heavy burden upon the people, and where it was a benefit to the foreigner. He showed that the tariff was a heavy burden upon the people, and where it was a benefit to the foreigner. He showed that the tariff was a heavy burden upon the people, and where it was a benefit to the foreigner.

Hon. W. H. Weddington, Acting Judge of the Criminal Court in Pike county, writes to the Courier-Journal saying that the frequent reports of trouble in that county, resulting from the Hatfield-McCoy feud, are untrue; that there have been no recent fights between them, and that the county is as peaceful as any in the State. It is a fact that the most of it is sent out from Charleston, W. Va., with the direct intention to deceive the public.

The chairman of the Democratic committee in the counties comprising the Seventh Congressional district, held a meeting at Lexington yesterday to decide to introduce the measure in ten days. It was also decided that instead of making the intended reduction of 50 per cent, on lumber, that timber should not be interfered with. The reduction on sugar was set at 50 per cent, and the wool schedule was not to be interfered with. On Tuesday evening Mrs. Tina Byers, a highly respected colored woman, was coming into Lancaster on the Danville road, and when opposite the residence of Mr. George Deeny, she asked Jesse Sweeney, if she could ride on a spring wagon which he was driving, in which was a cider mill. Young Sweeney consented and in her attempt to climb into the wagon she pulled the mill on her person and died instantly. The body was much bruised and mangled. The body was found in the road, and a jury summoned who rendered a verdict that she had come to her death as above stated, and that it was purely accidental.—Lancaster News.

The sheriff of Knox with seven guards came down Tuesday after the Butch county murders, Alvin Turner, the Hander, sons, Heinsley, etc., six in all, who had been in jail here nearly a year and who had obtained a chance of venue to his country. Several of the friends of the prisoners came along and the officer was certain that an attempt would be made to rescue them. To guard against this he had men stationed at every station between here and Knoxville to give him the alarm if there were suspicious movements. The whole party was guarded, and the prisoners were taken to the jail. The party was guarded, and the prisoners were taken to the jail.

There is a very remarkable apple tree in Rockingham county, North Carolina, in seed, which has borne fruit a number of years, but has not been known to blossom. The fruit while resembling an apple in size and general appearance, tastes like a plum apple.

The success of European farmers with all the forces of nature against them should be an inspiring lesson to our tillers of the soil. The American small farmer has only to unite better methods with the European, and he will be able to make himself independent and comfortable. If it is not without this union of brain and hand there can be no great and permanent success.—Atlantic Constitution.

The London Agricultural Gazette says that a donkey died two years ago at Cromarty that was known to be at least 100 years old. Its death was not from this great age, but in consequence of a kick from a horse. In fact, it was now old horse bones died recently at Warrington, England, in his sixty-second year. For horses to live till past thirty is not at all uncommon; and ten years or so beyond this.

THE LOVETT PATENT SEAT FASTENER.

THIS IS THE NEATEST AND BEST
SEAT FASTENER
EVER INVENTED.

PAT. 10. NOV. 23. 1886.

It holds the seat firmly and immovably, and yet it can be altered in an instant by pulling 25 cents in slanting off. Being so simple and so strong, it is a great improvement on the old style of seat fasteners. To persons purchasing territory, these Seat Fasteners will be sent at a very low figure.
